Communicating Hope and Resilience Across the Lifespan - Gary A. Beck - 2015-01-01

Communication and Aging is an innovative collection of contemporary data-driven research theorizing about how digital and social media are affecting and changing nearly every aspect of family interaction over the lifespan. The research and thinking featured in the book reflects the intense growth of interest in families in the digital age. Chapters explore communication among couples, families, parents, adolescents, and emerging adults as their roles and emerging digital communication roles are created, disrupted, and evolved with the growth and development of emerging technologies. Each chapter significantly advances thinking about how digital media have become deeply embedded in the lives of families and couples, as well as how they are affecting the very ways we as twenty-first-century communicators see ourselves and, by extension, conceived of and behave in our most intimate and longest-lasting relationships.
